

An opportunity has arisen at Inspire Change! We are looking for a Senior Account Manager to join our team. Our major clients are some of the largest ethical pharmaceutical companies in the world. This could be a full time or part time position depending on the candidate.

The position of Senior Account Manager is a uniquely varied role and can range from taking client briefs, assisting in the development of sales proposals and/or business schedules, providing proactive day-to-day contact with clients at every level, running projects to strict deadlines, managing the office processes and participation in management meetings, including production of contact reports.

This is a job for somebody with flair, who likes working in a small team, and therefore has the internal drive to fit into and make a real difference to this company.

You will have worked in a discipline where client responsibility has been a part of your job. Although not essential, you may have experience of the pharmaceutical industry and the NHS, or work in a marketing agency or healthcare business aligned to the ethical pharmaceutical marketing arena.

A life-science or business degree would be beneficial but again not essential.

For the right candidate we would also consider applications from top individuals looking for a flexible part time position.

Salary: Up to £30,000 (pro-rata) depending on experience
